Registration is extremely limited, so register as soon as possible in order to secure your spot. Registration will close February 26 or earlier if the course fills before then. Past workshops have filled quickly.

Each day will include a few hours of instruction instead of a full day in an effort to accommodate work schedules. In addition to the livestream presentations during the workshop, we will post the recorded presentations on a private link for attendees to review presentations for the duration of the workshop period.

The workshop will be conducted in Canvas, UW-Madison's online teaching platform. You will need reliable Internet access and a desktop or laptop computer. Livestream presentations will be conducted using Blackboard Collaborate.

You will be required to set up a NetID in order to access Canvas and take the quizzes. We will be in touch prior to the course with more information on NetID setup and accessing Canvas.

Each student will be required to have access to a speaker/camera/microphone/phone in order to participate in the live question/answer sessions and tutoring. Most importantly, make sure your browsers are up to date before the course.

This is a certification course. A passing quiz grade of 70% is required for all 10 units in order to receive the certificate. The multiple choice exams will be administered online in Canvas at the end of each day. Individuals who do not pass the quiz will have the opportunity for one retake after participating in a "virtual" tutoring session with the instructor.
